Now Mr. Collins is a holdover senator and was recently a candidate for congress against Martin Dies. Mr. Adams, contending that under the constitution there shall be redistricting every ten years, and that even under the failure of a senatorial redistricting act to be a law, the seat of all hold-over senators are vacated and thirtyone senators must be elected, had his name placed on the democratic priname placed on the democratic primary in several counties in the Fourteenth district and was duly declared the democratic nominee. Later his name went on the ballot in the general election as democratic candid. For state senator, returns were made to the county judge of Tyler county, which is the returning county in the district, and Mr. Adams is declared elected for the seat of a holdover senator who has not resigned.

Pressure Advanced as European Remedy In Case Direct Terms Are Forthcoming.

London, Jan. 5 .- The capitulation of Adrianople will, in the opinion of the Balkan plenipotentiaries, take place within a few days, either directiy to the beseiging forces or through Wilson declared tonight that besides European pressure. Pending some talking over a number of cabinet possibilities he had discussed with the fresh development the Balkan delegates are keeping in closest touch with the ambassadors, because they are aware that some of the questions they have most at heart depend almost en-cirely on the will of the powers.

Meanwhile the ambassadorial conference is doing little, hoping that the Adrianople difficulty will solve itself in some manner and thus make interference by the powers unnecessary. Moreover, the action of the ambassadors is hampered by the previous agreement that they must be unani-mous in any decision requiring active interference Should the fall of Adrianople still be delayed, now that the conference is suspended, it might become imperative for Europe to intervene; otherwise Europe would lose the prestige enutling her to dictate her will in similar matters, such as creating an autonomous Albania and partitioning the Aegan Islands. One suggestion is that, failing a better solution, Adrianople might be ceded to the powers, who could trans-fer it to the allies after permitting the Turkish garrison to depart with the honors of war and guaranteeing other onditions, such as the reservation to Turks of religious and property rights and the creation of ourts for the trial of civil suits arising between Mussulmen. Some of the allied delegates are of the opinion that now that they have paved the way for the expulsion of Turkey from Eu-rope, the powers ought to complete the work by removing Islam from Constantinople and transforming the Turkish capital into an autonom city under European control, and that they should study some system with the object of giving a civilized gov-ernment to Asia-Minor. If such steps are not taken, they declare that ere long there will be a repetition in Asia-Minor of what has just occurred in the Balkans.

Austria Action Expected.

One of the gravest aspects of the situation, as unbiased observers view it, is the fallure of Austria to give any sign of demobilization in spite of Servia's sacrifices for a peaceful solution, Servia even going so far as to evacuate the Adriatic coast. Austria's action, in the opinion of some, is explained by the fact that Emperor Francis Joseph, owing to his advanced

STABILITY.

The passing of Jeff Davis, senator from Arkansas, made no more than a local ripple upon the surface of the political times. He will be missed from the senate only as a rude dishope that he will be missed from Arkansas only in the same sense. As well as may be judged from a distance he was an arrant demogogue without a notable quality of statesmanship, and he succeeded only by arousing public passion and intensifying prevailing prejudice. We assume that h had many admirable personal traits, but his public performance gave no hint of any accomplishment or talent useful to his country. The empti-ness of his record and the perfunct-ory observance of his demise might be taken to heart by other men who have ambition without other purpose. -Fort Worth Record.

Observations

Our observation is that early Texas lawmakers sure had a high notion of ried women's rights .- Alvin Advocate.

Our observation is that present-day Texas law-makers have the same notion, but that present-day law-seekers of present-day laws are doing a little framing "on their own" and tempering the superiority fallacy with a bit of sense. Look what follows:

If the dear women are given the a series of poll tax bargain days. For instance, cut the rate for one day to $1.74. That would bring the prayed for rush to the tax collector's office.

will be confronted with a situation that has rarely, if ever, been heretofore known in this state. The state has now been on a deficiency basis for quite a while, and will probably be on deficiency basis when the legisla-ire convenes. The amount of unture convenes. paid registered warrants, at the close of business on January first, was the sum of $741,329.95. The amount of deficiencies allowed by the governor and unpaid at this time amount to the sum of $327,532.99. With the colmonth, there will, of course, be funds on hand to pay all these sums, but if and when paid they will largely reduce the net amount available for general purposes for the current fiscal in the absence year. So that it is reasonably certain that the state will go on a deficiency basis not later than the first of June and will remain on a deficiency basis for probably eight months.
With the reasons for this condition of affairs I shall not now concern my-

It should, however, in fairness, be stated that a large part of the deficiency warrants proper, issued un-der authority of the governor, is due to the burning of the building of the strict warrant of law can make no difference. The credit and honor of the state are at stake, and they must the state are at stake, and they must and will be paid. It seems to me, however, that these large deficiency warrants furnish an object lesson of what may occur and the strongest suggestion that the legislature should set its face resolutely against policy which will make necessary, any authority which will permit, the future. Conceding as we may that those recently issued were deserving and for purposes wholly meritorious, we sh and must, as it seems to me, so conduct the financial affairs of the state as to remove the temptation for such allowances to be made in the future. For more than a thousand years the English-speaking people, with practical unanimity, have stood against make provision that the men should tical unanimity, have stood against the policy which would permit any king, potentate or governor to expend public money or create a debt to be king, potentate or governor to expend future. Departure Follows.

From the church the bridal party, families and friends drove to the station. There was no reception other than the pressing forward for good wishes to J. D. Willis and his popular bride. The train was taken for a two weeks' withdrawal. This time will be spent in Houston and at the Galbe spent in Houston and at the Gal-vez. Mr. Willis has relatives prominent in Galveston and it is a foregone conclusion that social attentions will be paid.

Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Willis will become members of the household with the bride's mother on Austin avenue. A number of courtesies have marked the coming of this wedding, and a number more will mark the culmination. Several hostesses in prospect await the return of Mr. and Mrs. Willis to add other dem.

SCHOOL PROGRESS

STATE SUPERINTENDENT BRAL-LEY DISCUSSES GROWTH IN PUBLIC EDUCATION.

FIGURES SHOW THE INCREASE

More Funds for Maintenance-Never Before in History Has There Been Such Co-operation.

Austin, Jan. 8 .- F. M. Bralley, state superintendent of public instruction, in discussing in his biennial report, "Progress of Two Years, and Study of Present Conditions," submits the following prefatory statement and discussion of the public schools.

"Never before in the history of this state has there been a more intelligent patriotic cooperation of the people generally and the friends of education in the interest of all phases of the ed-ucational system. The cooperative efforts will ultimately result in the mak-ing of a school system thoroughly ad-equate for the education of the youth of Texas and completely unified in or-ganization and work from the elementary public schools to the colleges and universities. It is clearly recognized that substantial progress must affect favorably the entire system of state school, and in addition thereto the private, endowed and denominational colleges of the state. The bickerings, jealousies and prejudices which have characterized the educational forces in some of the other commonwealths are entirely absent in this state. The authorities in charge of the public authorities in charge of the public schools, rural and urban, fully appreciate the importance and value of higher education, while the authorities in charge of the institutions of higher education are ever ready and willing to render helpful service in improving the public schools. In this connection it is not out of place to say that some of the staunchest friends of the public schools of the state are of the public schools of the state are found among the presidents and the faculty members of the private, en-dowed and denominational schools of

Six Year Term for Trustees.

"The Thirty-second Legislature provided for the submision of an amend-ment to Article 16 of the State Conment to Article 16 of the State Con-stitution authorizing the selection of boards of regents and boards of trus-tees and managers of the educational, the elemoisynary, and the penal in-stitutions of the State for terms of six years, one-third of the members of each board to be selected every two years, thus creating boards of regents, boards of trustees, and boards of man-agers of the institution with overlapagers of the institution with overlapping terms. This constitutional amend-ment was adopted by the voters of the state in the November, 1912, election, and the Thirty-third legislature will asked to enact laws putting it into

Work of the Hogg Organization. "The Hogg organization was organ-ted in June, 1911, with the avowed state of Texas of its institutions of higher education, and from the beginning has had the cooperation and acions of higher education. The public chools and the private, endowed and denominational colleges. It has print-ed and distributed more than one hun-dred thousand copies of bulletins, cir-culars and posters, and has had de-livered under its authority and direc-tion about three hundred addresses in the interest of education throughout the state. This work has resulted in creating a more intelligent appreciation of higher education, and in establishing in the minds of the people the nethetic co-operation of our citizeznship in building up an educational system worthy of this imperial commonwealth. "The responses that have already been made by the legislature of this state to the demands of a progressive people, expressed through the col-umns of a militant public press, proclaimed from the public platforms, and urged by the work of civic and educational organizations, reflect cre-dit upon our lawmakers, shed lustre and honor upon the present state administration, and have produced an exhiberating educational atmosphere, giving inspiration and courage to all friends of education.

pleasure ground has been discussed time and again. Mrs. Weaver, Miss Kate Friend and other prominent civic workers have endeavored to arouse public sentiment along this line, but to Mr. Lacy belongs the credit of suggesting ways and means by which this memorial can be built. Nature has done much for Cameron park—so much, in fact, that it is difficult to get people to admit that art's formalizing touch is necessary in order to perfect the natural. But art must harmonize with nature, or the result will be unsatisfactory.

"One must possess a keen, critical judgment of landscape art to be able to render this harmony perfect. All men feel the effect of harmonious beauty, although few can tell just what has been necessary to arouse this feeling. Because of its natural beauty will be difficult to design an entrance to this park that will appear to long the pleasure of the pleasure of the south and his large cypress interests and is a relative cypress so as to get a fine grain effect. Yesterday Dr. Morrison received by express a large much as a piece of decorative work and is artistic in design. According to Mr. Downman this effect is obtained by charring the surface of the cypress beauty although few can tell just what has been necessary to arouse this feeling. In the ornate entrances to world's fairs, in the formal arch, the setness so palpably emphasizing the ambition of the architect, there is not a single art motive that may apply to the entrance we are considering.

"In Charles Henderson's great work on landscape gardening, among the illustrations devoted to park entrances is one perfectly adapted to Cameron park. It consists of a vine covered tower (a memorial tower) and a great arch of unhewn stone running from the At a meeting held in the State House

WEDDED IN SANGER STORE.

Before Large Audience.

"Could we get married here?" middle-aged couple inquired of a clerk at the Sanger store yesterday.

They were escorted to the third floor parlors, and there to the strain on a Victrola, the pair met in the center of the room and joined hands to be united in wedlock by the Sanger Bros. The ground floor rooms of Lohengrin's wedding march, played on a Victrola, the pair met in the to be united in wedlock by the Rev. J. N. Ludwig. About 150 employes and visitors witnessed the ceremony.

The wall between the main building of the Sanger store and the new addition will not be removed until absoluately necessary so that there will be as little disturbance as possible and when this part does become necessary everything will be in readiness to zonnect the new part in record-breaking time. The work of installing the new little will be a provided the same and they left the store amid a shower of congratulations to repair to their future home at Moody. BUILDINGS ARE BEING MEAS-URED FOR THE TAX BOOKS OF CITY.

PUTTING IN SOMERS SYSTEM

Expert William Young Says the Work Is to Be Pushed in Waco. Explains It.

Work of ascertaining land values in Waco under the Somers system of equalization was begun yesterday by William Young, expert in charge of the work here for the Manufacturer's Apprisal company. Building values, based upon exact measurements and the materials used in construction, and arrived at separately from the land values, are being ascertained by a corps of a dozen men working under Mr. Young.

"We are greatly pleased with the we are greatly pleased with the manner in which our system is being received by Texas cities," said Mr. Young yesterday. He has just returned from Galveston where the system is being installed. "There are always a few kickers at the start from people who would like to dodge payment of who would like to dodge payment of their taxes and throw the burden upon the other fellow, but when the system begins working, even the kickers are converted.

Galveston Is Pleased.

The Galveston News has the follow-ing to say of the installation of the system there:
"Probably no single civic improvement adopted by the city of Galveston during the year just ended is of more importance to the public as a whole than the Somers system of realty val-uation for taxation purposes, which is now being installed under the supervi-sion of experts and with the assistance of a representative body of citi-Affecting alike the high and the low, the rich and the poor, every citi low, the rich and the poor, every citizen who owns a piece of property, however large or small, the measure is one which has inevitably forced itself upon the attention of the taxpayer. Many doubts and objections were raised before the workings of the system were generally understood but investigation has resulted in education with the result that it was hide fair.

Then came the flood. He told prove one of the most popular innovations in the administration of public affairs since the creation of the commission form of government more than a decade ago."

The work in Waco will be pushed Linen Lage or Embroidered adags. ahead by Mr. Young with all possible speed. He says that the adjustment of relative values in this city will probably be easier than in most cities of the country due to the efficient work of the local board of equalizaof the tion.

Explains the System.

When questioned about the affair Speaking of the system, he said:
"The one essential of a good assessment is correct relative values. It matters not whehter the actual value of each lot and building is shown upon the assessment roll. Taxes are levied pro rata on the assessed value, and if each property is assessed at the same percentage of real value as is other property, justice is done every owner. Jailer Costley turning aside his head at a suspiciously critical moment. The upshot of it all was that Judge "More money is lost annually to every city or county before the city or county gets it than is lost by graft af-ter collection. If your city failed to provide your city treasurer with proper means to guard the taxes col-lected it would be unfair to hold him sor with proper means for obtaining all the taxes due to the city or county treasury, it is unfair to hold him ac countable if the money never gets Then came the miracle of the bath "Many assessors have viewed in this tub. He ate a hearty supper, played quiet games afterward, and then was way the enormous task with which they were confronted when inducted into office, and have set about their duties with a determination to remedy tucked away into a snow-white bed for the night. "It's been a long time since I slept in a bed like this," he sighed. In a pair of minutes the boy was asleep. the errors of the past and to make assessment which would surpass previous effort for equality and accuracy. After using their best efforts to attain this end, and finding that Mrs. Perry is not discouraged by the boy's pranks yesterday. He is obedient and is not expected to learn all of the good and pure side of life in a day. Mrs. Perry is going to give him another chance at school today, and she believes he will "stick it out." the longer they worked the less be-came the possibility of success, they have been forced to abandon their good efforts. And it may be stated that every effort at equitable assess-ments is foredoomed to failure unless the problems to be solved are handled Judge Denton said yesterday that he thinks the boy can be reclaimed. The boy is said to have first seen in a systmatic and scientific manner.

It makes easy the public discussion of values and the interchange of opinions.
